LOCAL & PERSONAL

COMMENCEMENT WEEK.

Next week is commencement week in Hondo—an event of great moment to teachers and pupils alike.

It marks the beginning of a welcome summer vacation to all after nine months of strenuous endeavor. To the senior class it means more—it means the end of High School days and the last of its pleasant associations.

For these reasons, all will vie with the teachers and pupils in making commencement week a memorably happy occasion.

Already the generosity of Hondo business men has taken care of the publicity for the occasion in a page announcement elsewhere in this paper; it is, therefore, only necessary for us to briefly refer to the events here.

The Baccalaureate Services will be held at the High School Auditorium at eleven o'clock Sunday morning, May 18, as shown elsewhere in the program printed in today's paper.

The Senior Play, "Nothing But the Truth," is announced for Tuesday, May 20, as will be noted in the page announcement elsewhere.

And the grand finale, the Graduating Exercises, will be held Friday evening, May 23.

The personnel of the graduating class of eighteen is as follows:

Ferole Lucille Boon, Ulrich L. Burger, Armor Lee Embrey, Meta Gerdes, Glynn Jones, Charley A. Leinweber, Donia Estes Merriman, Dorothy Inez Mofield, Victor M. Murray, Regina Nester, Leo Pettis, Charles N. Rieber, Homer A. Rothe, Jonell Rothe, Carl H. Steinle, Ethel Christina Taylor, Dorothy Louise Ulbrich, Clarence R. Wright.

Not the least of commencement week's features will be the Rural School Graduation Exercises at the High School Auditorium Wednesday night, May 21. This will be the fourth annual event in which those finishing the seventh grade work in the rural schools are given diplomas. An interesting program has been arranged, but a last minute rush prevents our publishing the same.

Invitations have been received by friends here to the graduation exercises of the class of 1930 of the Santa Rosa School of Nursing, which will be held at the Incarnate Word College on May 23. Among the names of graduates are the following Medina County young ladies: Clara Filleman, Madeline Drotcourt, Hondo; Clara Hans, Castroville and Clarisa Keller, LaCoste.

The big Goodyear tire that was announced in last week's paper to be in Hondo May 14, arrived here on the 13, a day ahead of its schedule. As a consequence it did little more than pass through, many who wanted to see it failing to have the opportunity. The massive tire is 12 feet tall and four feet wide and is being drawn like a trailer behind a big Buick car.

There were 1,594 farms enumerated in this area at the Fifteenth Census.

P. T. A. BOOK TEA.

The Annual Book Tea sponsored by the Parent Teacher Association was held at the regular meeting Monday afternoon at the High School Auditorium.

Mrs. Speece, the new president presided and graciously thanked all who had helped to make the County Council Meeting in April a success.

Mrs. Meyer, chairman of the refreshment committee for the Council, reported a balance of $16.45.

The club voted to send a note of thanks to the out of town speakers, who were on the Council program.

Mrs. Starnes resigned her office as third vice president and Mrs. Chaney was elected in her place.

The president appointed Mrs. Davis as Publicity Chairman for the year. The following committees were appointed: Program, Mrs. H. Bradley; Mrs. Elmer Leinweber, Miss Vera L. Cook; Membership, Mrs. Vernon King, Mrs. Fred McWilliams and Miss Willie D. Fly; Ways and Means, Mrs. Roland Chaney, Mrs. Richard Reilly and Mrs. R. J. Noonan.

In the count for the book the fifth grade won having the most mothers present.

The program at the conclusion of the business session was presented in an unusually attractive manner. The stage portrayed a garden scene into which Mildred Freichs, in fairy costume daintily tripped, carrying a basket of pink radiance roses announced, "This Basket of Flowers Brings to You a Program of Music." The fairy announcer took a rose from her basket as each number of the following program was rendered.

Piano Solo—Miss Ruth Watson. Violin Solo, "Schubert's Serenade"—Edward Armstrong, Jr. Reading, "The Old Washplace"—Miss Sallie Steele.

Vocal Solo, "Moonlight and Roses"—Mary Ruth Wilson and Bernice Chaney accompanied by Frances Finger at the piano.

Piano solo, "You Were Made for Me and I Was Made for You"—Miss Minnie Margaret Howard.

Reading, "The Betrothed"—Bernice Chaney.

Vocal Duet—Thelma Wilson and Margaret Dillon.

Accordian Solo—Bennie Crow.

After the program the reception committee, composed of the teachers received the books and Mrs. Alfred Schweers, the social hostess of the afternoon, with her assistants, Mesdames John Finger, M. Broxton, Charles Finger, Robert Decker, Chas. Filleman, Isaac Wilson, Frank Westfall, W. Weber, Benton, M. Rath, E. Britsch, G. Bohmfalk, A. C. Thallman and G. DIED.

Mr. A. H. D. Hurt, died at the family home Friday morning at 2:25 May 9, 1930, at the advanced age of 80 years. He was born in Mississippi May 27, 1850, and came to Texas with his parents at the age of 3 years. The family settled near Gonzales where he lived for some years.

For several years he frequented with ox teams between San Antonio, Austin, Gonzales and Kerrville. He afterwards joined the Texas Rangers and served under Captain Caldwell, helping to drive some of the raiding Indians from the State. After leaving the ranger service he moved to Medina County when he was 27 years of age, and in December 13, 1877, he married Miss Mary Susan Redus. This union was blessed with 8 children, six of whom are living and were with him in his last hours, together with his 17 grandchildren.

One child died in infancy. Another Mrs. Leila May Dunlap, passed away, October 24, 1912. Mrs. Hurt died September 28, 1908. The six surviving children are: Mrs. T. A. Stevenson, Eagle Pass, Texas; J. B. Hurt, San Antonio; J. I. Hurt, San Antonio; Mrs. Florence Love, Hondo; Mrs. Bennie Lockwood, San Antonio and Mrs. Albert Mercer, New Braunfels. Besides these he has an older sister, Mrs. Mary Bishop, of Kerrville, Texas.

The following were among those from other towns that attended the funeral services on Saturday afternoon, George and Delmar Redus; Mrs. Johnnie Beaver, of Dilley; Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Stevenson and family of Eagle Pass; Mr. J. B. Hurt, wife and family, of San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. Ira Hurt and family, San Antonio; Mrs. Bennie Lockwood, of San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Mercer and son of New Braunfels; Miss Annie Love, of Del Rio; Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Earnest, of San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Roberts, of San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. Will Moore, of San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Fowler of Sabinal.

He lived a long and useful life in Medina County and the town of Hondo, and while he was a contractor and builder in the town, he with his son, built many of the brick buildings in Hondo.

He was known as a good father and square in his dealings with his fellow man.

His sister, Mrs. Mary Bishop with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Moore of Kerrville and Bud Bishop of Center Point came in on Thursday morning to be with Mr. Hurt in his last hours.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. A. Nelson, who stressed the necessity of preparing the soul to meet God and quoted the following verse:

"One was a king they told me,
The other—a common clod;
But stripped of their outward seeming
How will they look to God?"

For one there was the blare of trumpets;
For the other—no acclaim;
But when God inscribes His records,
How will He write each name?"

Men praise the royal purple,
And scorn the common stole,
But God in the great eternal Sees naught but the naked soul."

Mr. Hurt was not a member of any church. But he believed in Christ as his Savior, and in his younger days, before his sight began to fail, he was an earnest reader of the Bible. A plain, unpretentious man, he had the respect of his fellow men, and though passed man's allotted three score and ten, his passing grieves all who knew him.

The worst hail storm since May 31, 1915, struck this section about 7:30 o'clock last Monday evening, May 12. Much of the crops will have to be re-planted.

BROTHERS DRIVE CHEVROLET FROM BUENOS AIRES TO U. S.

After triumphing over fever, hardships, adverse weather conditions and having blazed their own trail over thousands of miles of mountain jungle and desert country, two courageous Argentines, driving a Chevrolet touring car, arrived in New York recently—the first to pilot an automobile from Buenos Aires to the United States.

Adam Stoessel, 33, and his brother Andrew, 23, left Buenos Aires in their Chevrolet April 19, 1928. Their arrival in this country a few weeks ago climaxed a two year battle, covering 19,000 miles, against terrific odds that had caused the failure of every expedition that had previously attempted the journey.

Enthusiastic welcomes greeted the daring South American pair in New York, Washington and Detroit. At the formal ending of their hazardous trip at the battery in New York, with in view of the Statue of Liberty, they were warmly greeted by the Argentine Consul General, Alejandro Bolini and his staff.

Proceeding to the national capital, they were greeted by Vice President Curtis and leading figures in official Washington, including Dr. L. S. Rowe, director general of the Pan-American Union and Dr. Enciso charge d'affaires at the Argentine Embassy. Officials of the American Automobile Association and the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce also extended their congratulations.

At Detroit they were welcomed by W. S. Knudsen, president of the Chevrolet Motor Company, who presented them with a new Chevrolet. Commenting on the brilliant adventure, Mr. Knudsen pointed out that the Stoessel brothers had made an important contribution to the world-wide enjoyment of the automobile and accomplished a very material advance in bringing the three Americas into closer union.

"The sensational achievement of these boys adds a thrilling chapter to the romance of the automobile and indicates that the long-heard-of Pan-American highway, linking the three Americas, has passed the dream stage and within the lifetime of many will be an accomplished reality," he said.

In showing the car to Mr. Knudsen, the Stoessels were proud of the fact despite the terrific punishment of 19,000 miles of adventurous driving, the Chevrolet was still in good condition, though its appearance gave mute testimony of the ordeal through which it passed.

Though naturally pleased with the success of their venture, both voyagers declared they would not attempt the expedition again under any circumstances.

They talk Spanish and German but are unable to express themselves in English. Through an interpreter they described their trip in detail. Asked what was necessary to accomplish such a journey, they were reluctant to agree that it could be done again under similar circumstances but compromised with the requirements of: A good automobile—plenty of money and an unconquerable spirit.

Twenty-five thousand feet of motion picture film taken during the long jaunt served to bear out the thrilling account they gave of the journey. More than 6,600 gallons of gasoline and 3 tires were used during the run. No check was kept on oil consumption.

The trip took them through 14 countries and made it necessary for them to conquer every type of road and weather condition experienced in automobile driving.

Though their parents and ten brothers and sisters discouraged the idea as too hazardous and too unlikely to succeed, the boys set out from Buenos Aires three weeks after determining on the venture. Having previously owned five Chevrolets at various times, the selection of a car was easy. They picked the open touring model as the best adapted to their needs. The holes at the intake of the carburetor were enlarged to make possible more efficient operation in very high altitudes. Extra tanks of gasoline, oil and water were taken on. A shovel, an axe and plenty of tow-ropes were put aboard.

Then following a dinner given by the Automobile Club of Buenos Aires, which sponsored the tour, they set out on the adventure that was to add new laurels to the achievement of the automobile.

Surmounting seemingly unconquerable obstacles that beset them almost at every turn in South and Central America, they fought their way over rocky mountain passes, across arid deserts and through jungle thickets in many cases never before traversed by a wheeled vehicle.

Except for an 80 mile stretch between Carthegena, Colombia and Colon, Panama, they covered the entire distance by automobile. The short trip was made necessary because of the impenetrable country between these two places. It is said that this territory has never been traversed by man or beast.

In view of the fact they were moved to undertake the trip partially as a result of a desire to gain information that would be helpful in the future development of the Pan-American highway and partially as a result of an adventurous desire to see the world, they made no effort to set a time record.

Although Chevrolet dealers all the way from Buenos Aires to New York co-operated in providing what ever service was necessary, the trip was neither inspired nor sponsored by the Chevrolet Motor Company. The Stoessels started out on their own initiative with a fairly liberal supply of funds given them by their father.

They were able to defray additional expenses by taking motion pictures and showing them in various cities where by agreement with the managements of theaters they divided admission receipts with the house.

The following log of the trip shows the progress made by the expedition and the countries through which they passed:

VIRILITY OF THE CHURCH.

There are many newspaper writers, particularly in the daily press, who relish an opportunity to lament the waning influence of the Church.

It is a peculiar truth that the man who seldom, if ever, attends a Church service, soon becomes obsessed with the notion that Church influence is failing. Readers who have become unduly alarmed by such writing, should devote an hour or two some Friday evening to perusal of the weekly press.

If the Church as a whole is suffering from any form of decadence, certainly it is not in those thriving communities which are the bulwark of American civilization.

It is a notable fact that the "country editor" knows pretty definitely what his subscribers like to read, and it is especially significant that very few stores crowd Church news from the front page of the country press.

ZEN of the Y. D.

A Novel of the Foothills

By ROBERT STEAD

"The Cow Patcher"—"The Homesteaders"—"Neighbors," etc.

next year I'll cut it, spite o' h—I am high water."

"All right, Y.D.," said Grant, cheerfully. "We'll see. Now, if you can spare me a horse to ride home, I'll have him sent back immediately."

Y.D. went to find Transley and arrange for a horse, and in a moment Zen appeared from somewhere.

"You've been quarreling with Dad," she said, half reproachfully, and yet in a tone which suggested that she could understand.

"Not exactly that," he parried. "We were just having a frank talk with each other."

"I know something of Dad's frank talks. . . . I'm sorry. . . . I would have liked to ask you to come and see me—to see us—my mother would be glad to see you. I can hardly ask you to come if you are going to be bad friends with Dad."

"No, I suppose not," he admitted. "You were very good to me; very—decent," she continued.

At that moment Transley, Linder and Y.D. appeared, with two horses. "Linder will ride over with you and bring back the spare beast," said Y.D.

Grant shook hands, rather formally, with Y.D. and Transley, and then with Zen. She murmured some words of thanks, and just as he would have withdrawn his hand he felt her fingers tighten very firmly about his. He answered the pressure, and turned quickly away.

Transley immediately struck camp, and Y.D. and his daughter drove homeward, somewhat painfully, over the blackened hills.

Transley lost no time in finding other employment. It was late in the season to look for railway contracts, and continued dry weather had made grading, at best, a somewhat difficult business. Influx of ready money and of those who follow it had created considerable activity in a neighboring center which for twenty years had been the principal cow-town of the foothill country. In defiance of all tradition, and, most of all, in defiance of the predictions of the ranchers who had known it so long for a cow-town and nothing more, the place began to grow. No one troubled to inquire exactly why it should grow, or how. As for Transley, it was enough for him that team labor was in demand. He took a contract, and three days after the fire in the foothills he was excavating for business blocks about to be built in the new metropolis.

It was no part of Transley's plan, however, to quite lose touch with the people on the Y.D. They were, in fact, the center about which he had been doing some very serious thinking. His outspokenness with Zen and her father had had in it a good deal of bravado—the bravado of a man who could afford to lose the stake, and smile over it. In short, he had not cared whether he offended them or not. Transley was a very self-reliant contractor; he gave, even to the millionaire rancher, no more homage than he demanded in return.

Still, Zen was a very desirable girl. As he turned the matter over in his mind Transley became convinced that he wanted Zen. With Transley, to want a thing meant to get it. He always found a way. And he was now quite sure that he wanted Zen. He had not known that positively until the morning when he found her in the gray light of dawn with Dennison Grant. There was a suggestion of companionship there between the two which had cut him to the quick. Like most ambitious men, Transley was intensely jealous.

(To Be Continued.) If you would like to read this complete story, hand or send us a dollar for one year's subscription to FARMING and we will send you FARMING one year and give you free a neatly and substantially bound volume of FARMING containing the complete story. Think of it? A year's current subscription to our magazine and a bound volume containing this charming book-length novel for the price of a year's subscription alone. Send or hand us the dollar today and get the complete story in one volume.

There will be none," he said, quietly. "If you come over the hills to cut the South Y.D. next summer I will personally escort you home again."

Y.D. stood open-mouthed. It was monstrous that this young upstart breeder on a second-rate ranch like Anderson's should deliberately defy him.

"You see, Y.D.," continued Grant, with provoking calmness, "I've seen the papers. You've run a big bluff in this country. You've occupied rather more territory than was coming to you. In a word, you've been a good deal of a bully. Now—let me break it to you gently—those good old days are over. In future you're going to stay on your side of the line. If you crowd over you'll be pushed back. You have no more right to the hay in this valley than you have to the hide on Landman's steers, and you're not going to get it any more, at all."

Y.D. exploded in somewhat ineffective profanity. He had a wide vocabulary of invective, but most of it was of the stand-and-fight variety. There is some language which is not to be used, unless you are willing to have it put on the ground, there and then. Y.D. had no such desire. Possibly a serious sense of honor entered into the case. It was not fair to call a young man names, and although there was considerable truth in Grant's remark that Y.D. was a bully, his bullying did not take that form. Possibly, he recalled at that moment the obligation under which Zen's accident had placed him. At any rate he wound up rather lamely.

"Grant," he said, "if I want that hay

CLASS RECEIVES FIRST SOLEMN COMMUNION.

A class of 6 boys and 6 girls received their first solemn communion in St. Mary's Church, Sunday, May 4, 1930. The school children and parishioners accompanied by the Rev. Pastor met the communicants at St. Mary's School and accompanied the class to St. Mary's Church at 8:00 A. M., where a High Mass was celebrated by Rev. James Marsollier, who also delivered a very instructive sermon. In the evening at 7:30 P. M. services were again had in church and which were closed by benediction.

The following are the names of the class:

NATHANIEL LAMBERT RIHN.

Again it becomes our sad duty to chronicle the sudden death of the second child of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Rihn in less than five days time.

Dear little Nathaniel Lambert Rihn, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Rihn of San Antonio, died at the Santa Rosa Infirmary, on Friday evening, May 2, 1930, at 5:20 o'clock, not quite five days after the death of his brother, Malcolm William.

He was born on September 3, 1928, at Lacoste and only attained the age of one year and 8 months at the time of his death.

His little corpse was brought to the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Biediger here, Saturday afternoon. The funeral was held from the residence at 2:30 P. M. After services in St. Mary's Church the little form was carried to St. Mary's Cemetery where it was tenderly laid to rest beside the grave of his brother. Rev. James Marsollier performed the last sad rites.

Besides his parents little Nathaniel leaves surviving two brothers, J. B. Jr., and Ewing, both of whom are seriously ill at this writing.

We extend our deepest sympathy to the grief-stricken parents and brothers in this their great hour of sorrow. May they be consoled by the thought that their dear little babies are now with the angels of heaven.

Mrs. Ed. Trip and daughter, Miss Julia were visitors here Tuesday.

Rev. James Marsollier from here and Rev. Jacob Lenzen from Castroville were at Calumbus, Texas, Tuesday for the dedication of the Catholic church there. They were accompanied there from San Antonio by His Grace Most Rev. A. J. Drossaerts, Archbishop of San Antonio. Steve Papajohn, the big truck farmer from Pearson was a business visitor here Wednesday. Mr. Papajohn is busy shipping green beans now, making shipments daily over the Missouri Pacific out of Natalia.

TEXAS A TOURIST STATE.

Travel agencies in Europe and elsewhere are complaining that American overseas tourist trade has fallen off to alarming extent. Editors point out two reasons for this condition: one, of course, is the business depression in this country; but the chief reason lies in the fact that American travelers are learning their own country offers a variety of attractions quite comparable to the best of old-world lures.

In these travel-trends, Texas editors see an opportunity to develop within the state a profitable industry which distributes cash in liberal quantities, yet depletes none of the state's resources and competes with none of its established businesses.

Within the tremendous empire which is Texas, are found a wealth and variety of travel attractions which are challenged by few, if any, of the American commonwealths. There is the wide plains country upon which persists the picture of the last frontier; there are the mountains of West Texas, surrounded by a semi-arid region of unique beauty; there are the forests of East Texas; there are miles of coast with incomparable beaches and travel by-ways; and, finally, there is the Magic Valley with its semi-tropical vegetation and its warm winter skies. To all of these attaches to historic shrines, the romance of old civilization, and the thrill of traveling highways first marked by the conquistadors and later dotted with America's own covered-wagon caravans.

Were this not enough, there remains the lure of that other civilization, and those other customs, which beckon from across the Rio Grande.—Editorials of the Month.

"Brother in Texas "Sister in California and a telephone call that broke twenty years of silence

ONE night, in a little Texas town, a man dropped a letter into a box.

The mail snatched it up with mechanical precision . . . sorted it . . .
stamped it . . . routed it . . . hurled it into the lighted doorway of a steel coach. Westward it raced, the coach a part of a heavy train that pounded upward along steep mountain grades, then slid down long, pleasant slopes to the Pacific.

And one morning, from across 2,000 miles of distance, out of 20 years of silence, a postman dropped it at a California doorstep.

A young housewife opened the letter. She read it . . . and sat for many minutes gazing with unseeing eyes out of a window! From times dim in memory, pictures moved across the sun-filled street: a mother's death . . . days of confusion that a tiny girl had not quite understood . . . a little boy who had gone far away to live with relatives.

Picking up a pen, she began to write.

But even after she had mailed her reply, she was not satisfied. There were still the pictures . . . of the days of sadness . . . of the little boy! How did he look now? How had the years treated him? Was he waiting impatiently for word from her?

In a corner of the room, the telephone met her eye.

Was he waiting . . . impatiently?

Thoughtfully, she moved toward the telephone. She lifted the receiver, gave a name, an address, a Texas town.

"Thank you," said the operator,
"Hold the line, please."

Read a newspaper? *matter-of-fact account of that conversation: "His sister, who has grown up and married since he last saw her twenty years ago, called him . . . for fifteen minutes brother and sister conversed over the 2,000 miles of telephone wire as perfectly as if they had been a block apart."

Where have you a loved one . . .
a relative . . . a friend who once was close?

"Long distance" can bring them to you today, quickly and at low cost!

On eight out of ten long distance calls, connections to the called point are established while the person calling waits at the telephone, telephone statistics show. Service is fastest when you give the number of the distant telephone.

And as to price . . . a call from New York to San Francisco which three years ago cost $16.50, now costs $8. The cost after 8:30 p.m.
is still lower.

Number, please?

*Name of the newspaper and date of the story will be furnished on request

100 miles for 60 cents.
500 miles for $2.

MEETING OF BOY SCOUT OFFICIALS AT CAMP SITE.

The Executive Board of the Southwest Texas Council, Boy Scouts of America, is holding a very important meeting at the camp site this week, at which the members will discuss the permanent building program and the future policies of the camp, as well as the policies for our new Council year beginning June 1st. Among the camp problems which will be discussed, are the following: the sanitary problems; the water supply system; the building of a permanent kitchen, store room and other buildings; waterfront equipment; the date of the camp; the number of camp periods, etc.

During the fiscal year just coming to a close, some 55 Scouts have advanced to the rank of Second Class Scouts, 25 to the rank of First Class, 17 to the rank of Star Scouts, 8 to the rank of Life Scouts, with 180 merit badges having been awarded. Many of the Scouts of four years ago are becoming leaders in our program now, and they are multiplying the principles of Scouting a hundred fold among the twelve-year old boys who are coming into the program yearly.

It has been estimated by some of the Boy Scout Officials that this has been a very successful year, in that the Council has not had to borrow any money and that up to May 1 all accounts have been met as they became due. This is the first year in the history of our Council that this has happened, thus proving that more men are becoming interested in the Scout program each year. Our new fiscal year begins June 1.

The dates for the camp periods will be announced to the Area after the meeting this week.

A THOUGHT FOR SUNDAY

by AMOS R. WELLS.

MOSES' FATHER-IN-LAW.

Moses was fortunate in having a sagacious father-in-law and in possessing the wisdom to listen to his advice and follow it. The great law-giver had been frittering away his time and strength on petty affairs which could be quite as well handled by a lesser man. His father-in-law taught him to reserve himself for the most important matters.

Thus we also should focus our powers on the biggest things of which we are capable, and refuse to be tied up with trivialities. In Thoreau's "Journal" he relates how Thoreau, sailing with his man Peterson, saw a sea-serpent rearing a horselike head some six feet above the water, with a body the thickness of a cask trailing behind. Said Webster to Peterson: "Never say a word about this to anyone; for it it should be known, I would

What this Doctor did for Humanity
As a young man the late Dr. R. V. Pierce, practiced medicine in Pennsylvania and was known far and near for his great success in alleviating disease. Finally he moved to Buffalo, N. Y., and put up in ready-to-use form, his GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY. This strength builder is made from a formula which Dr. Pierce found most effective when in private practice. LOCAL MEN RETURN FROM CONVENTION.

Rev. H. A. Heineke and Mr. F. R. Grube returned Sunday from the Convention of the First Ev. Lutheran Synod of Texas held at San Antonio, May 6 to 11. They report enjoyable and profitable days of work.

On Tuesday they were shown points of interest in the city of San Antonio.

On Thursday they accepted an invitation of the Chamber of Commerce of Seguin to make a trip to that city for the purpose of looking at the building and campus of the Lutheran College, a school supported by the Lutherans of Texas. They were impressed by the beauty of the campus, the fine equipment of the buildings, and the good spirits of the students. They were told that the College is fully accredited and a member of various associations of Colleges, and that it had made a very creditable showing in athletics, securing the Junior College Championship in football last fall. This year it is introducing a summer course.

The local delegates were happy to report that the final organization of the American Lutheran Church, which is a merger of several bodies of Lutherans, will be completed in August.

The laymen of Synod had a special meeting in which the suggestion was made that the laymen of every Lutheran congregation organize a brotherhood.

One of the most interesting addresses was that of President W. F. Kraushaar, who has made a trip to New Guinea, which is one of the largest islands of the world and on which Lutherans carry on mission work among one of the most savage people of the earth. They have no words for love, gratitude and sympathy. No boy is considered a man until he has killed someone. Conditions are changing under the influence of the Mission, though all efforts made by various governments had failed.

The local delegates had much to say in praise of the ladies of San Antonio. These ladies served two meals a day in the basement of the convention hall. They must have established a record when they served 175 men with delicious food in twenty-five minutes.

A musical treat was enjoyed Friday evening when the orchestra and Choral Club of Lutheran College presented an excellent program. These organizations have established an enviable record during the first year of their existence. There may be an opportunity to have them give a program in our city.

The growth experienced by the Lutheran church was indicated by the fact that three congregations and eight ministers were admitted to the body. Eighteen young men who are active gathering congregations throughout the State, made short addresses during the Convention.

The officers of the Texas Synod are Rev. E. A. Sagebiel of Seguin, president; Rev. H. Krause, D. D. of McGregor, vice president. The pastors, Rudolph Becker of Doss and G. W. Schardt of Port Arthur, are secretaries, and Rev. F. A. Bracher of Fredericksburg is treasurer.

Mr. Grube was member of the committee on election.

Rev. Heineke was member of the committee on presidential report, and delivered an address Sunday morning to the Sunday School on "Mother's Day."

HONDO COUNTRY GENTS DEFEAT D'HANIS JUNIORS 8-2; EMBREY GETS HOMER

Hondo's Country Gentlemen went to D'Hanis Sunday and defeated the Juniors of that place 8 to 2 to capture the third and deciding game of their series. The first game was won by the Juniors 9 and 8 in 11 innings. The Hondo team took the second by a 15 to 2 score and then won Sunday to make it two out of three. B. C. Rucker's Hondo squad is fast rounding into a strong combination and have won three of their five games.

The prize hit of the game at D'Hanis was a circuit clout by C. Embrey, Hondo's classy catcher, in the fourth inning. Although the Gents got ten hits it was the loose fielding by D'Hanis that let in most of the runs. E. Taylor and C. Embrey played good games for Hondo in the field as did Koch of D'Hanis. A. Finger who pitched the last four innings for Hondo, did nice work on the mound. D'Hanis' two runs off him were made on errors. Finger was also hitting good, getting three out of four times to bat.

HONDO SAVAGES DEFEAT KELLY FIELD ON HOME FIELD BY 4 TO 3 SCORE

By playing tight ball in the pinches, and making three hits count for four runs, the Hondo Savages defeated the Kelly Field nine of San Antonio on the local diamond Saturday evening 4 to 0. Schneider was a bit wild at times, but with men on the bases would pitch good ball. In the eighth inning the Flyers got three men on with no outs, but Leo retired the side without the Cadets scoring. Leo got nine strikeouts against the Flyers. Both teams played loose in the field, Hondo committing seven errors and Kelly Field six.

Although each team got but three hits one of Hondo's was for four bases. Chancey King, snappy Savage catcher, slammed a fast one for a home run in the fourth inning.
